Suggested problems from your text:

Additional Practice Problems:

When methyl 4-hydroxybutanoate is treated with an acid catalyst a transesterification takes place to yield a lactone. The mechanism is identical to a Fischer esterification except methanol is the leaving group instead of water. Write out the complete mechanism showing all intermediates and arrows indicating electron flow.

!Chemical structure

Provide the missing reagents and/or products.